

David Davis, Hardinsburg, Indiana

The Davis Ranch is where David Davis trains horses and is the headquarters for David Davis Ministries. The ranch offers horse training, riding and training instruction, trail riding, horse-drawn wagon rides, a guest lodge, restaurant, church, singin' around the camp fire, and lots of Hoosier hospitality. The ranch has been passed down from generation to generation in the Davis family for over 100 years, since John Davis was awarded the land for his service in the Civil War.

David has trained horses at the ranch since he was a small child and continues to do so, specializing in reining, dressage and trick horse training. His techniques are based on precision communication between horse and rider. He has won three World Championships in reining competitions and many other titles and awards, too numerous to mention. He has also performed trick horse presentations, as well as Roman Riding and Cowboy Dressage, at such events as the APHA World Championship Show in Fort Worth, Texas, the Arizona Horse Festival, Mackinac Island, Michigan, and Hoosier Horse Fair.

David conducts horse training clinics around the nation, teaching his own 'force-free' method of training. He continues to compete in various reining competitions and events. In addition, David is an ordained Christian minister and a Christian Contemporary and Country singer/songwriter. He performs concerts and ministers the Word in churches, on horseback and wherever opportunities arise.

David will present his unique Trick Horse, Roman Riding and Cowboy Dressage throughout the MHC Horse Expo weekend. Check the schedule for exact times and presentations.
